“It’s Good Friday Every Day”
“Thank you Old and New”

by Kate Holmstrom, SHCJ & Joachim Forster, SHCJ

GOOD FRIDAY — Kate Holmstrom

Christ so silent in Paul

who’s autistic,

Christ in the shame of poor Vicky,

just raped,

Christ in hot tears

at this young man’s passing,

And Christ under morphine

in that cancer ward.

Christ in the law court,

tense, white and worried,

Christ has been mugged—

now he’s shaken and sore.

Christ got evicted, his things

on the pavement,

And Christ’s fallen out with the one

that he loves.

‘No, it is for this reason

that I have come to this hour.

Father, glorify your name.

Then a voice came from heaven:

‘I have glorified it,

and I will glorify it again.’ ”

John 12: 27-29

“Now my soul is troubled.
And what should I say—
‘Father, save me from this hour?’

Christ with a stammer

and Christ with arthritis,

Christ who’s obese

and the others all laugh.

Christ suspected

and Christ in detention,

Christ can’t speak English—

he’s lost and afraid.

There you are, Christ,

in all faces of weakness.

There is your glory,

your wisdom and power.

There is the gift

of your self-revelation...

That’s what you came for —

welcome your hour. ♦

“Thank you Old and New”

Lord, help me live from day to day
In such a self-forgetful way
That, even when I kneel and pray
My prayer shall be for “Others”.

Help me in all the work I do
Ever to be sincere and true
And know that all I do for you
Must needs be done for “Others”.

Let self be crucified and slain
And buried deep; and all in vain
Its efforts be to rise again
Unless to live for “Others”.

And when my work on earth is done
And my new work in Heaven begun,
May I forget the crown I’ve won,
While thinking still of “Others”.

“Others”, Lord, yes, “Others”.
Let this my motto be.
Help me to live for others.
That I may live for Thee.

Prayer of Thanks by Kate Holmstrom, SHCJ

I thank you, Lord, for you are good to me.

You woke me gently from a wholesome sleep,
Provided crunching toast to please my palate.
A sweet bird sang for me, high in a tree.
A letter from a friend fell through the door,
Warming my heart, and binding us once more.
I didn’t miss the bus. I stroked a friendly dog
Who wagged his tail and grinned: we liked each other!
The sun came out a bit. My throat is sore no more.
Passing an open window, I heard someone Practising on the flute. Mozart, I think.
My neighbour’s funny baby amuses me,
Investigating toes, and bag, with silent joy.
His mother’s quiet good humour touches me:
She talked to me, and listened to my answer.
Your love shines through her peace and kindly smile.
Such things are small, perhaps, but they are life –
Your gifts to us, to me. I thank you, Lord.

To me, all this is Incarnation.
